

Students who are passionate about the arts?

We need 14-18 year olds in Kent to become Young Arts Ambassadors

Kent Arts Development Unit in partnership with Future Creative is looking for young people who are passionate about the arts. We want to empower these young people to share their talents and become ambassadors for the arts in Kent. Those involved will get to influence arts development in the county by attending cultural events and sharing their views. They will also develop their own skills and enhance their CV.

Showcase their artform at a London exhibition with a private view

Meet other like-minded young people

Events and exhibition management

Investigate the powers of social networking

Graphic design, promotion and marketing

First session is
Sunday
10th July

How can I get my students involved?

Please identify any students in your school that would benefit from taking part in this project, and pass on the attached flyer.

Places are limited to ONE YOUNG PERSON PER SCHOOL! Those interested must apply by sending a short expression of interest by the

20th of June to explore@future-creative.org

Please support your students in any way you can to apply for this opportunity!
